

CAREER DEVELOPMENT EVENTS

GENERAL RULES

PHILOSOPHY FOR FFA CAREER DEVELOPMENT EVENTS

Students are important customers of agriculture education and the FFA who recognize quality and value in products and activities. When provided an opportunity to fashion their education experiences, they generally make wise decisions based on needs. Perception, images, and the opinion of others influence students. They value change based on their perceived personal needs as well as the needs of others. They sometimes value change for the sake of variety. Adults are concerned about the experiences of students and want to help organize experiences that will meet the future needs of student while accomplishing the purpose of agricultural education and the FFA organization. The State FFA Association should assume the leadership role in developing and continuously improving relevant FFA career development events and awards. Although the State FFA Association should be aware of the needs of the chapters in the state and should react to those needs, it should help initiate opportunities that reflect relevant and emerging technology. State FFA Career Development Events and awards should be developed with significant input from FFA members, teachers, partners, respective industry sponsors and others involved in agricultural education.

NEW MEXICO FFA GUIDELINES

State Career Development events and awards should reflect instruction that currently takes place in the entire agricultural education program, including classroom instruction, laboratory instruction, individualized instruction, and/or supervised agricultural experience. However, it is appropriate for the state organization to develop career development events and awards that stimulate instruction in emerging areas that reflect both current and future work force needs.

The state association should promote individual, chapter, and team career development events and awards should be based on cooperation and teamwork while recognizing the value of competition and individual achievement. The role of career development events and awards is to motivate students and encourage leadership, personal growth, citizenship, and career development.

Student should be recognized for achievement in career development events and awards. Quality standards should be used as a basis for achievement. The state association should ensure that the recognition is appropriate and meaningful. Recognition for achievement should be reflective of the total effort required by the chapter/team/individual and should take place at all levels of participation.

The state association shall encourage accessibility and provide opportunities for achievement and recognition for students with diverse backgrounds.
